Kara Cell Guide

Blessed Family: Parents, Your Voice Matters

Introduction:

“The best inheritance a parent can give his children is a few minutes of his time each day.”
-O. A. Battista

Ice Breaker: What is a weird fact you know?

Scriptures

Genesis 18:19, Deuteronomy 6:4-9

Discussion:

1. Statistics show that teenagers would go to their parents first when it comes to life issues. Were your parents/guardians your go to when it came to things you were struggling with? If not, who did you speak to and why?
2. What areas in your life do you think are a result of your parents being present or absent? In what ways do you think parents should be present even if not physically?
3. In this era of information and social media, how can a parent/guardian make sure that their words and instructions still impact their children?
4. Take sometime to thank God for your parents and the lessons you have learned by watching how they have lived out their life. Pray for God's continued guidance to your parents. Share and pray for your personal needs.

Challenge:

Engage your cell in a conversation about what kind of parent they envision themselves being one day. Ask them to create a vision card. What things can they begin to do now so that they can see that vision pan out.
